Lincoln County CERT History:

Lincoln County has actively had a CERT or multiple CERT Chapters in place since 2007. Over the past seven years the CERT Chapters have flexed in size based on current volunteer leadership and interested new and active members. Currently there are seven active CERT Chapters in place and two TEEN CERT programs at area high schools. Homeland Security grant funding was available early on (2007-2009) in the formation of the CERT Chapters and the US Department of Education provided funding to initiate the Teen CERT program. These funds were utilized to purchase team member kits, training supplies and activation resources; however, these funding sources became scarce when priorities at the Federal level were refocused to other projects.

CERT volunteers work tirelessly to help ensure trained resources are available to augment traditional public safety agencies during an emergency but their priority is to the neighborhoods CERT members reside in during an emergency. They also serve as a significant force in helping to ensure the success of numerous emergency preparedness fairs, and they are very active in serving the community at public events, for instance, providing crowd management during parades.

CERT Chapter Challenges:

Each of the CERT Chapters face their own independent structural or organization challenges but each of them share in the following challenges:

- Access to on-going continued funding to purchase needed basic CERT kits, supplemental items, and printing of training course materials. None of the Chapters have financial support from their sponsoring agencies (this was never the intent of the sponsoring agency), only a couple have a 501c3 on file but the team member volunteers are not oriented to fund raising as their time is given for training and exercises.

- Access to liability insurance for authorized team member training sessions and exercises. Currently insurance is only available through sponsoring agency (not available to all CERT Chapters) when they are activated for an actual emergency response
- Volunteer CERT Team Leader Retention/Recruitment – many CERT Chapters have faced the “moving on” of qualified and dedicated team leaders from their communities because of changing life priorities, the balance of work and home activities or because of the time commitment needed to effectively lead the Chapter. For some CERT Chapters this has had a significant impact to their team’s effectiveness or stability. CERT Team Leaders all share in a varied degree of responsibilities that for a smaller group can be overwhelming.
- Sponsoring agency administrative support – depending on the size of the sponsoring agency there may be limited time available to administratively support the needs of the CERT Team Leaders.

2014 – 2015 LC5 Goals:

- Assess feasibility of a single sponsor for current and potential new CERT Chapters to include research other single sponsorship groups in Oregon
- Assess feasibility of a standardized CERT Chapter operating guidelines and recertification process
- Assess potential resources for acquiring liability insurance for members during training and exercises
- Assess feasibility for standardized basic CERT kit contents
- Assess potential funding resources for additional CERT kits
- Assess potential single source recruitment, application process, task/event sign-up and volunteer training record management

LC5 Activities:

- Meeting frequency was increased from quarterly to monthly (as needed) in order to increase the chapter communication, collaboration and strategic planning efforts
- Due to individual Chapter Leadership turnover and time availability of the delegated chapter representatives the Chair, Vice Chair and Secretary positions have had turnover and the LC5 Committee is in the rebuilding process
- The LC5 Bylaws underwent revisions to streamline the leadership decision making process among the chapters, incorporate additional chapters and assist with clarification of responsibilities and encourage increased standardization among the chapters

2012-2013 CERT Chapter Membership and Activities:

CERT Chapters participate in many training, exercise and community events each year. Granted it is true CERT Teams are rarely activated for a true emergency but their greatest impact on communities of Lincoln County is in their community service events which ultimately prepare them to work together for actual activations.

The following describes the annual functions of an active CERT Chapter but it should be recognized the overlapping and collaboration of continuity of participation among the Lincoln County Chapters. All of the Chapters share their training and exercise sessions and time and time again we see that they assist each other with the community service events to ensure adequate manpower is available for such events.

- Training Activities:

New CERT members must first complete a 17-hour course of training over a period of several weeks. CERT Basic Training classes provide skills in basic disaster preparedness, including operating a fire extinguisher, fire safety and utility controls, disaster medical training (both quick rescue treatment for the three main killers: opening the airway, controlling bleeding, and treating shock; and setting up for basic First Aid for multiple casualties), performing light search and rescue operations, understanding disaster psychology, and terrorism. This training is capped by a disaster simulation where CERT trainees demonstrate the skills that they have learned.

Once individuals have completed Basic Training, completed the application and background check process they may join the CERT group of their choice and participate in ongoing training events. Some CERT groups offer trainings on a monthly basis. Examples of the ongoing training events include the use of FRS/GMRS radios, advanced technical training related to their skill sets and other additional training that will augment the members capabilities but may not be directly related to their CERT job duty, i.e., NOAA SkyWarn Spotter training, and Red Cross shelter operations, traffic safety, etc.

- Emergency Activations

The ultimate test of a CERT member is during an actual emergency. When a sponsoring agency needs to utilize CERT volunteers during a disaster or other event, the agency will activate their CERT Chapter or in the case of a catastrophic event CERT members can self-activate to assist within their immediate neighborhoods or communities as outlined in their activation protocols.

- Emergency Exercises-Drills

To prepare for the day a team is activated, CERT teams participate in or organize emergency exercises and drills. Examples of these exercises include: tsunami evacuations, communication drills, specific technical drills, etc.

- Community Service Events

CERT Chapters serve in many capacities, such as crowd management, communications at various parades and festivals, information providers at readiness and community fairs and door to door outreach specifically for emergency preparedness information. By nature, CERT volunteers are community spirited people, and agency sponsors and communities are encouraged to take advantage of their skills, dedication and enthusiasm. These events sometimes serve as dual purpose; providing a training platform as well as opportunity to practice learned skills.
